

Creating and sustaining challenge for every pupil

This workshop tackles concerns that over 25 % of pupils think that lessons aren't challenging them. It provides practical tools and resources which model and focus on three strategies highlighted by international evidence as being effective in building challenge for all abilities into your planning and teaching.

This workshop will:

- develop your understanding of effective strategies for building appropriate levels of challenge for all pupils into planning and teaching.

The workshop is designed for:

- heads, deputies, assistant heads, department heads and subject leaders with an interest in ways of designing challenge into the curriculum; and
- primary and secondary practitioners.

You will:

- grasp important new evidence about planning and teaching for challenge;
- reflect on the different ways teachers construct challenge in different subject areas and how pupils experience it;
- find out what teachers report about the difficulties of planning for challenge and the support they would like; and
- explore with colleagues practical strategies which can be used to develop challenge in your school

The CUREE guarantee:

Our facilitators will:

- Make research and evidence accessible and useful focusing on high leverage strategies
- Provide tools to sustain learning and help staff refine strategies in the light of pupil responses
- Introduce learning in a way that is active, engaging and helps with the collection of evidence about staff learning to support the evaluation of impact
